A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medi-cines of Dr. A. W. Miners Look Askance at Paragraph in Federation of Labor Appeal.

NOT SO SURE ABOUT IT

They Have Not Agreed to Leave Strike Settlement in J. Pierpont Morgan's Hands.

Nothing Has Developed in the Strike Si. uation Looking to Adjustment.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 13.-Nothing new has developed in the strike situation here. Not one soldier was sent out Sunday from the camp located in It now looks as though there will be very little or no increase in the production of coal during the next week. The miners are as firm today in their declarations not to return to work until they get some concessions as they have been heretofore.

The appeal issued Saturday by the American Federation of Labor was received with considerable satisfaction by the strikers, but there was considerable discussion over the paragraph in the appeal which asserted that the miners were willing to leave their case in the hands of J. Pierpont Morgan. When Mr. Mitchell's attention was called to it he said it was an error. Later he refused to discuss it. It is evident there is some mistake and to it by discussing the matter.

CRITICAL STAGE

Final Licks. Indianapolis, Oct. 13.-At the Republican state committee rooms it is realized that the critical stage of the campaign has been reached, and while there is every confidence that the state will be carried, the officials at the headquarters are more vigilant and are redoubling their efforts. The committee headquarters is about the busiest place in town. Chairman Goodrich, Secretary Whittaker and all the officials are more active than ever. The burden of the fight is in the arrangements for getting out the vote and in assigning speakers for the finish. Many meetings are to be held every day. The county chairmen and the precinct committeemen are receiving 30-day poll has been received to indicate that the Republicans have a good big majority if the vote is brought out. OUR BOYS IN BLUE

Have Never Faltered in Devotion to the Nation's Cause.

quent Reply to a Democratic Leader Who is Afraid of the "Mailed Hand" of the American Soldier-The Flag is the Symbol of Liberty Wherever

One of the most eloquent members Watson, representing the Sixth district of Indiana. His speech on the Philippine question during the last session attracted the admiring attention not only of his auditors in the house of representatives, but of the entire country. He answered in masterly fashion the complaints of the minority against the policy of the administration.

Some of his most eloquent sentences were inspired by a text token from the speech of Representative Deamond of Missouri, wherein the Missouri representative said: "Do we lack the power to take the mailed hand from the throats of men who are crying out for liberty and independent national existence?" Replying to this question, Mr. Watson said:

Whose is the mailed hand that is held at the throat of the Filipino? Manifestly the boys' in blue, fighting under the rippling folds of our beautiful banner over the Pacific, across the ocean, 7,000 miles away. Is this a mailed hand? Shall we sit patiently by while the soldier boys of the republic, gallantly contending for the honor of the country and the glory of the Frank Armstrong and wife, of New flag, are assaulted and aspersed on the

Sir, no more singular devotion to the flag has been known than theirs. They their country's shores, they climbed over the ridge of the western sea, to plant their country's banner in a strange land and under new skies. Clad in their uniform of blue and beneath the emblem of their nation's power, they have never faltered in premacy of republican principles and the equality of all men. (Applause.) Misses Isis Bunton and Louise In the desert sands, in the mountain treacherous swamp, they have not ceased to contend, not for power, for conquest, for territory, for spoils, but for the eternal principles represented by their flag. KILLED THE SPIDER. Deadly Influence of a Small Magnet on the Insect. An experiment made by a scientist to test the influence which a magnet will have on a spider is of interest. The magnet employed was a small steel one of the U shape, the legs of which were about two and a half inches long by one-half inch wide and one-sixth of an inch thick, the distance between the poles being about one-quarter of an inch.

Having noticed a small spider actively running along his armchair, he brushed it off upon the carpet, where it began to run, but was somewhat impeded by the roughness of the fabric. He now slid the magnet along the carpet, following after the spider, till the ends of the poles were within a quarter of an inch of it. The animal, without being touched, almost instantly stopped, and on withdrawing the magnet the spider continued on his jour-

The experimenter then placed the the spider, and, withdrawing it slowly, the latter followed it in every direction which the magnet took, both in straight and circuitous routes.

Salpiglossis is a pretty, showy annual, easy to raise and worthy a place in the garden. The birch grows farther north than any other tree. Next comes the Si-purposes of relief. Mignonette is so unobtrusive that its presence is often betrayed by its sweet scent merely, but a large bed of mignonette should be in every garden. Dissolve fresh lime in water, allow sediment to settle and saturate earth in which small, white worms have been noticed with the clear solution thus made.

That "it is never too late to set out roses" is a true word about gardening maxim no less worthy of dependence.

PLACEBO PRESCRIPTIONS.

An Old Doctor Tells a Secret of His Profession.

"Never tell a patient that there is Flower for the cure of Indigestion, nothing the matter with him," said the Dyspepsia, and Liver Troubles that old doctor, who was revealing the secrets of his profession. "If you do, you make a lifelong enemy and lose your patient, who sends for another doctor. Give him something, if it is only flavored water. If the disease is only imagidespondent feelings, sleeplessness-in nary, cure the imagination with a harmless dose, and your patient gets nouveau riche broker was entertaining stomach or liver? This medicine has well. In the profession we call such been sold for many years in all civ prescriptions 'placebos,' and more wonderful cures are effected by placebos than the world wots of. So, also, when you run across a patient who announces the first thing that he cannot take certain sorts of medicine, don't first. We have never known of its fail- tell him he must. Agree with him and give him the medicine, if he needs it,

"There are thousands of people who labor under the conviction that they cannot take quinine and will tell you that they have never taken it in their lives, while at the same time they may be taking large doses of it. The taste of quinine is hard to disguise, but if administered in a pill the patient can be made to take it and never suspect what he has swallowed. The trouble is the patient is apt to recognize a quinine pill by its appearance, to suspect, bite into the pill and thus discover your ruse. To obviate this difficulty druggists now have pills of quinine made in odd shapes and colors. Pink pills, containing nothing but quinine and a little harmless coloring matter, are a favorite form for use in cases where an antiquinine crank has to be medicated. In giving a placebo it is not wise to have it taste too well. The patient is apt to suspect if you do. And be sure that you gravely impress upon the patient that only a teaspoonful is to be taken at a time and that at stated intervals. The whole virtue of a placebo exists in the solemnity and importance with which you surround it."-New York Press

WEARIED AN OBSERVER.

The System of Renting Out Family Glory and Supplying Ancestral Trappings at So Much Per Hour Has Its Drawbacks.

Two guests were being shown through a Philadelphia mansion in which a a party of fashionable friends. The splendid array of family heirlooms, ali bespeaking a lineage of earliest colo nial origin, deeply impressed one of the party. He was a stranger but lately arrived from Baltimore. Oddly enough, his companion, a Philadelphian, seemed flippantly indifferent to these treas ured relics of a family's honored his-

"Remarkable collection of heirlooms our host has," remarked the stranger as he stopped before a battle scarred sword of Revolutionary days.

"Yes," drawled the Philadelphian cynically, "very interesting. But unfortunately it lacks the charm of nov elty for me. Already this season I've seen the same batch of relics in three other Philadelphia houses." "How could that be?"

"Oh, simple enough. It only means that all four families, our host and the three others I refer to, hired their ancestral trappings from the same man." "Hired them?"

"Yes, hired them. We have in this city an enterprising collector of colonial junk who makes a business of renting out family glory to all who were unfortunate enough to be born without it."

"Whew!" was the only comment the astonished Baltimorean could utter. And doubtless many Philadelphians would be moved to say "Whew!" if they could learn how many members of the Quaker City social elect are constrained to seek the assistance of the heirloom dealer when they wish to give a brilliant function. It is a deception that is forced upon them, for unless you have distinguished appearing forbears you stand little chance of penetrating the sacred precincts of the local fashionable set. Ancestry, not cash, is the open seaame, and even if a man can claim some sort of a family tree his pretensions are questioned unless he can show some of weakness and weariness better than the furniture or portraits that his American forefather brought with him on the Mayflower or the Welcome.
